Police Court, and several cases of more than usual interest.

J. D. Shaftell, the young man who was brought back to the city Saturday afternoon from Alexandria by Policeman Wiltshire, on the charge of stealing a diamond pin from Guy Cotter, was the first to appear. Shaftell had three charges against him—the one above, and another of defrauding R. E. Kilbourne out of board and lodging to the amount of 311.85, and yet another of being a suspicious character. But when all had been heard Justice Crutchfield was satisfied that the man was innocent, and discharged him forthwith. The cases were before the Court for more than an hour. Cotter and his wife both testified against Shaftell in the first charge, but their evidence about the same thing was entirely dence about the same thing was entirely different and contradictory, each destroy-different and contradictory, each destroy-Shaftell in the first charge, but their evidence about the same thing was entirely different and contradictory, each destroying the other. It was shown by their own testimony that if Shaftell ever had a pin belonging to Cotter it was loaned to him. Shaftell said he never thought of borrowing the pin from Cotter and never had one belonging to him. A number of well-known citizens of Richmond were placed on the stand in Shaftell's defence, and said they had had business transactions with him and found him.

SOME PROBABLE CANDIDATES FOR

SPEAKER OF THE NEXT HOUSE.

PILCHER, COOK, AND SAUNDERS. These. With the Present Speaker, May Be in the Race-A Mother's Plea for Her Son-Negroes as Regu-

Among the Covernor's callers yesterday House of Delegates from Fauquier county. Mr. Plicher is just from Washington, and is on his way home. He and Governor Tyler had a long talk over State polltics, discussing in a general way the working of the legislation of the last session, and the work to be done at the session which will convene in December. Mr. Pilcher is understood to be a candidate for the position of Speaker of the House of Delegates. He will certainly be a candidate if re-elected, of which be a candidate if re-elected, of which there is little or no doubt, and if Hon. John F. Ryan, Speaker of the House, is re-elected and is not a candidate. No doubt is entertained as to the re-election of Mr. Ryan Whether he will be a can-didate for the speakership is not known. He doubtlers will be. It is likely, how-eyer, that despite the warm friendship existing between Mr. Plicher and Mr. Ryan, they will both be candidates for he speakership.

Hon, M. T. Cooke, of Norfolk, will be a Hon, M. T. Cooke, of Norfolk, will be a candidate; so will Hon. E. W. Saunders, of Franklin. These gentlemen are among the best-known figures in the House of Delegates. Mr. Saunders is generally the leader on one side or other in every debate of importance. He has been regarded, ever since he entered the House, as one of its ablest members. Mr. Cooke, as chairman of the Finance Committee, and of the Democratic caucus, took a prominent position, and will command strong support for the speakership.

Governor Tyler had a lengthy interview yesterday with a mother who wants her wayward son pardoned out of jail. The lady was Mrs. Wright, of Lynchburg.

Wright's non, Claude, a young fellow only 19 years of age, for the first time in his life, got drunk. His mother and father are very respectable people of Lynchburg. While Claude was drunk he took the cost of an acquaintance to a pawn-shop and got a few dollars on it. He was arrested, tried, and given six months in

His mother is nearly heart-broken. His father is ill in bed. Mrs. Wright brought to the Governor a petition signed by many citizens of Lynchburg, asking for the pardon of young Wright. Governor Tyler was deeply impressed by Mrs. Wright's story of her son's fall. He sent the papers in the case to the Judge of the the papers in the case to the Junge of the Corporation Court and the Common-wealth's Attorney of Lynchburg, and if the application for pardon receives their endorsement young Wright will be set free.

The Governor issued a pardon to Harvey Holmes, a Richmond negro serving a twelve-months' term for stealing a whitewash brush. Holmes had been in jail ten months. The application for pardon was endorsed by Judge Witt, of the Hustings Court; by Commonwealth's-Attorney Richardson, and by Police-Officer Charley Gibson. These all thought the sentence heavier than the crime justified.

NEGROES AS REGULARS.

The negroes recently discharged from

The negroes recently discharged from the Sixth Virginia are probably not so anxious to enjoy civil life, as has been supposed. It is understood that many of supposed. It is understood that many of them are endeavoring, or will endeavor, to enlist in the regular service. Two privates called on Governor Tyler yesterday, seeking information regarding the method to pursue in enlisting. The men had lost their discharges from the United States Volunteer service, and these will have to be found, or copies procured, before they can enter the regular army. They were referred to the Adjutant-General.

A FAVORITE OF THE LORD'S. Portion of Scripture from Which Ambrese Derived Comfort. R. A. Brock, Esq., in his memorial to Papers, says: olk Miller, that wonderful traducteur, recognizable that they have constrained the common judgment, "Folk is the nigger himself?" testifies.

Mr. Miller is a deagon in the Second Presbyterian church, and was loved by Dr. Hoge, as he is by everybody.

It should not be forgotten that Polk, in his way, is an "Evangel" himself. In witness, we have only to state his appealing exposition of the mutual tie which bound the southern "master and slave"—provider and servitor—educator and civilized—mutually regardful.

Mr. Miller, in his broad compass of vistation of entertainment and instruction, with audiences who have been misled by mistaken representation, has done more, it is believed to dispel evil fancies and idle planntasies born in misguided philanthropy, than have sil the cascades of instated oratory and the mountains of tracmistaken representation, has done more, it is believed to dispel evil fancies and idle phantasies born in misguided philanthropy, than have sil the cascades of inflated oratory and the mountains of tractates shed and strewn. He has a "little story" in his mirthsome repertoire, which he had from a member of the household of Dr. Hoge. It is somewhat illustrative of what has been just stated, and is, furthermore, not without humor in the realization of some exemplifications of the ante-belium slave:

Among the slaves owned by Dr. Hoge was one who had faithfully served him as "carriage driver"—Ambrose.

Upon the promulgation of the proclamation of President Lincola, freeing the slaves, Dr. Hoge informed Ambrose that he had no longer any right to his service.

mation of President Lincols, freeing the slaves, Dr. Hoge informed Ambrose that he had no longer any right to his service.

"What for?" earnestly asked Ambrose. Dr. Hoge fully explained, stating that, in law, Ambrose was as a white man, and invested with all the prerogatives held by his late master.

Ambrose appeared to be stunned by the announcement of his beloved master; gloom oversprend his face, for a moment ne was dumfounded, then he stammered forth in demurrer of his cruel fate:

"I'se bin free all my life; I'm gwine to stick to my white people"—and remain he did for eighteen years. Finally, demands of blood relationship called him to the locality of his birth, in a distant county.

But, when opportunity permitted, Ambrose would come "home" to see his old master and his household, and, as has been the experience with faithful "domestics" of old, always returned with some gratuity bestowed.

On one occasion Ambrose came with a piteous category of calamity: "I's bin havin' a hard time dis year anyway. Las' Jenewary, or Febewary, I disremember which, some 'possum hunters come thum' place an' set de woods aftre, an' de fire crope upon my house an' set dat a fire, an' when I come out from dar. I never save nothin' but a counterpin. Den I got me a house on Briery river an' de freshet wash me out from dar. I never save nothin' but a counterpin. Den I got me a house on Briery river an' diffreshet wash me out from dar. I never save nothin' but a counterpin. Den I had some as nice Pigs an' Chick'ns as ever you wish to see, an' de Kolry got in amongst de Pigs an' kiit 'em ali, and de Chick'ns all died wid de gyarps. And if t'warnt for de comfort I gits out'n de Bible, I couldn't stan' it."

Dr. Hoge listened patiently to the recital, and then, with a twinkle in his eye, asked: "From what portion of Scripture do you get so much comfort?"

"You knows, Marse Moses, de Bible says, 'dem dat de Lord loveth he chases,' an' de way He has bin a chasin' o' me, for de las year. I knows I must be one o' He favorites."
